UAE Aviation

Carving a niche for itself

Research Highlights

Examining and analyzing the status of UAE Aviation Sector highlighting the demand, supply and investment trends. The report also presents growth drivers and key learning points.

What is the report about?

Even before the unity of seven emirates, United Arab Emirates had taken small steps into the aviation world. On account of its geographical location, leadership and increasing globalization, the UAE aviation sector began to grow very rapidly. Emergence of UAE as a safe haven in the Middle East, continued growth of religious and retail tourism, rise of UAE as a business hub, and its emergence as the ideal transit point, connecting the Eastern and the Western hemispheres have served the aviation sector well. This has led to growth of carriers of international stature, such as Emirates (Dubai) and Etihad (Abu Dhabi). The report provides a detailed analysis of the UAE Aviation industry.

Who will benefit and why?

The report will benefit anyone tracking the UAE Aviation industry, and its many players; especially government institutions, trade bodies, industry associations, construction companies, investors and economists. This report would help these entities to gain in-depth understanding about the industry functions at present, and what the future holds.
